

Abstract

A method for preventing an initial hepatic encephalopathic episode in persons at risk for hepatic encephalopathic episodes by administering to the person a therapeutically effective amount of at least one phenyl butyrate compounds or a salt, derivative or metabolite of phenyl butyrate in a pharmaceutically acceptable vehicle.